

CATHOLIC STUDENT HOME IS DEDICATED

Knights of Columbus Bring Noted Prelates Here to Celebrate Masses.

HAS COST $350,000

Furnishings Are Elaborate—6,500 Persons Attend Reception.

Prelates, Knights of Columbus and townspeople witnessed the dedication of the new $350,000 Catholic Student Home here yesterday.

The dedication ceremonies started with a 10 o'clock solemn High Mass at the Sacred Heart Church. The members and visitors, led by the fourth degree Knights and the Knights of Columbus Zouaves, entered the church in a body. The visiting church dignitaries followed these.

Bishop Byrne of Galveston was the celebrant of the mass. He was assisted by Father M. S. Brennan of St. Louis, Father J. S. Spencer of St. Louis, Father T. J. Lloyd of St. Louis, Father Joseph Gillilan, pastor of the Sacred Heart parish; Father Frowin Conrad of Conception, Mo., Father P. P. Crane of St. Louis, Father Plus of Jefferson City and Father W. F. Robinson, president of St. Louis University. Bishop T. F. Lillis of Kansas City and Bishop M. F. Burke of St. Joseph attended.

Archbishop John J. Glennon of St. Louis gave the sermon in which he told of the early universities and their founders bringing their progress down to those of today. The Archbishop said:

"I want the students to give the name of God a sacred place in the home and the same reverence that the scholars of old gave to it."

Moving Pictures Taken.

An elaborate musical program was given by the Sacred Heart choir. R. J. Sorin's Mass was sung with Mollard's "Ave Marie" at the offertory. The soloists were: Mrs. B. D. Simon, Miss Clara Ruether, Miss Beatrice Watts, George Kline and Eugene Ruether.

Nicholas McDonald, representative of the International Film Company, took moving pictures of the church procession and the crowd leaving High Mass to attend the dedication at 12 o'clock.

"No fraternity in the world has lived up to its opportunities in the last three or four years more than the Knights of Columbus," said Luke E. Hart, State Deputy, in his introductory talk at the dedication services. The services started at 12 o'clock and lasted one hour. Mr. Hart replied that the hearty greeting extended him, showed the people's expression of loyalty to the great fraternal organization which had erected the new building.

"All the really successful men are college graduates, and these men should be trained along religious lines as well as books," said Mr. Hart. "The Knights of Columbus can build places to take the place of the homes of these young men while they are receiving their education. It was for this reason, the new building was erected."

Bishop Lillis Speaks.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Lillis, Bishop of Kansas City, made the dedication talk. He said the Knights of Columbus had done many good things, and there were many good things they had not done yet. When you find this order putting such a building in a town the size of Columbia, he said, they are doing something which has never been done before. Bishop Lillis impressed upon the people that the doors of the students' home were always welcome to all students, irrespective of their creed and place they may come from, yet, he said, it is a Catholic house and of Catholic thinking. The building was erected for noble and high purposes. The words, "Knights of Columbus," have become a household word in America and across the seas during the last three years, he said, and the members must continue to live up to their standard, working and co-operating with the church.

Following the service, the guests dined at the local hotels.

After a business meeting of the grand knights, state deputies and knights at 2 o'clock at the Daniel Boone Tavern, a reception was given for the visiting prelates and Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty of New York.

Open to Public at 3 P. M.

At 3 o'clock the new home was thrown open to the public for the first time. It is estimated that 6,500 people passed through its doors during the afternoon.

Assisting at the reception were Mayor Gordon, the members of the Glennon Club and Knights of Columbus and their wives. The University was represented by members of the faculty and their wives. Punch and wafers were served to the crowd amid strains of popular music from a five-piece orchestra, which played during the entire afternoon.

The furnishings of the building deserve special mention. They cost $30,000.

In the tiled hall stands a large mahogany grandfather's clock donated by the Duff and Repp Furniture Company of Kansas City. The lounging room to the left is especially attractive. Grey tinted walls, fawn-colored velvet draperies, console mirrors with mahogany tables, over-stuffed couches of blue-gold brocade, fawn colored velvet and wisteria give the room an air of comfort. Slender-legged tables have been placed between the couches with parchment-shaded lamps thereon. In the center of this room stands a magnificent mahogany table costing $500. Cream-enameled floor lamps with cream and rose shades lend an air of beauty and charm.

The ladies' rest room, which was furnished by the Catholic Women's League of St. Louis, is done in white enamel and flowered cretonne. Stanley C. Williams, special representative of Repp and Duff of Kansas City was here to direct the hanging of the draperies and the placing of the furniture.

Preston J. Bradshaw, architect of the building said yesterday: "We are housing seventy-eight boys and have sixty-five on the waiting list." Mr. Bradshaw is planning a house dance and buffet luncheon for the students in the new home in two weeks.

Day Closed With Banquet.

A banquet and program in the evening, closed the day's dedication services. Six hundred guests assembled around the long tables where an elaborate dinner was served by St. Louis caterers. After dinner, the tables were removed from the auditorium, and the program was held, followed by moving pictures of war scenes.

The Rev. P. P. Crane, state chaplain, gave the invocation. Luke E. Hart acted as toastmaster. Miss Elizabeth Estes and Miss Anna Garner were soloists on the program.

Mr. Hart expressed the wish that every Knight of Columbus in Missouri could be present. The opening of this building, he said will be a means of broadening the influence of the Catholics at the University.

Building Monument to Luke E. Hart.

"The building will stand as a monument to Luke E. Hart," began Dr. Thomas E. Purcell, district deputy, in his talk on "Laymen's Activities." "Only one year and one week ago, in the midst of all kinds of campaigns, the cornerstone was laid. It has largely been due to the activity of Mr. Hart that the building has been finished so soon."

"Every Knight of Columbus whose name does not appear on the list of donors, should rush home and get it on as soon as possible."

One who was formerly a pastor of the Sacred Heart Church and who has worked among the students here and knows the need of a Students' Home, was the next speaker. This was the Rt. Rev. C. E. Byrne, bishop, who came from Galveston, Tex. Bishop Byrne spoke of the work done by the University of Texas for the Catholic young men and women. A home is located near the campus where nuns are in charge and act as mothers toward the young women students. There is a clubroom for Catholic young men.

Almost Half of Fighting Men Catholic.

The Rev. William F. Robinson, president of the St. Louis University, pleased the audience with his talk.

He spoke of the wonderful work carried on by the Knights of Columbus during the world war. The influences of the home were brought into the rain soaked and trodden trenches, through the Knights of Columbus buildings. Almost half of America's fighting men were Catholics, and about half of those who lost their lives on the battlefield were Catholic soldiers.

Among the other noted speakers, was James A. Flaherty, supreme knight, of Philadelphia. Mr. Flaherty is the wearer of a Distinguished Service Medal and of a Legion of Honor badge. He is largely responsible for the growth, prestige and influence of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Flaherty told of the millions of dollars spent on war work; how the boys were given employment when they returned to civil life, and of the many activities taken up by this organization.

President Hill Speaks.

"Columbia prides itself on being the Athens of Missouri. The University is proud to be counted as one of the best in America, and this is due in a great extent to our splendid educator and great man among university presidents, Dr. A. Ross Hill," said Mr. Hart in introducing the next speaker.

Doctor Hill assured the audience there would be no conflict between the work of the state and the work of the various churches. The Knights of Columbus will be given the same hearty co-operation as is given the Y.M.C.A. He gladly welcomed the new home. It provides a place where the students may be trained adequately for insight, motive and purpose to accomplish things for their own state.

Doctor Hill also informed the guests that Missouri contributes more men to the pulpits each year than any other university in the United States. The University is proud to be honored with the first Students' Home of this kind.

RHODE ISLAND TO TEST PROHIBITION

Will Decide Validity of New Amendment and Volstead Act in Courts.

LAW NOT FOR THEM

Would Infringe on Sovereign Rights of States, It Charge.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Supreme Court today is speeding up its final decision as to whether constitutional prohibition is valid. An announcement was made that the application of the state of Rhode Island to institute original proceedings in the court to test the validity of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Law has been granted.

Rhode Island claimed the law could not be enforced in that state because the state legislature did not ratify the amendment. Enforcement of the prohibition law would therefore infringe upon the sovereign rights of the state, it is argued.

Ohio Wants Referendum on Act. By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Supreme Court today was asked to advance the argument in the cases testing the constitutional rights of states by referendum to override the action of legislatures in ratifying the prohibition act.

Ohio and prohibition leaders of that state joined in making the motion. The suit brought in the lower courts sought to enjoin the secretary of state from submitting the prohibition amendment to a referendum.

Columbia awoke this morning to find its streets, hotels, and some homes full of prosperous looking men wearing flaring badges and ribbons. They are the vanguard of an army of visitors who will visit Columbia Farmers' Week, which officially starts today.

Each train arriving in the last twenty-four hours has been crowded with farmer visitors. The Daniel Boone Tavern expects to have two hundred guests this afternoon, which will be its capacity. The Athens Hotel is filled and has a waiting list. The Commercial Club reports an early rush of visitors, having assigned 150 to homes over Sunday. There are still more than 150 to assign and more arriving each hour. The Commercial Club faces a big task and should receive the co-operation of every resident of Columbia.

The local garage men report a small number of tourists, owing to the bad condition of the roads. However, if the roads improve, a large number will arrive the latter part of the week it is predicted.

The largest day in point of attendance and interest probably will be Wednesday.

The delegates from Jasper and Newton counties have two Pullmans on the M. K. & T. tracks to assure themselves sleeping quarters. Others are expected to follow this example. Local headquarters of the Holstein Breeders' Association has been established in the lobby of the Daniel Boone Tavern.

DANIELS FACES PROBE

Naval Affairs Committee Decides to Investigate Naval Policy.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—A sweeping investigation of the naval policies of Secretary Josephus Daniels is to be made, it was decided today by the Senate naval affairs committee.

Secretary Daniels today wrote to Chairman Page of the Senate sub-committee denying that it was he who told Admiral Sims he would "as soon go to war with the British as with Germany." The letter was written at the suggestion of an American diplomat, who feared that should Sims' statement go unanswered it would create a serious impression in England.

Each Slang Term Costs a Penny.

The girls of Stephens College have named the corridors there for great men, such as generals and statesmen. But one has come to be known as "Peanut Alley." The name is likely to be misleading, for the girls of "Peanut Alley" have absolutely forsworn slang. Any girl using a slang word must drop a penny in the box placed in the corridor for that purpose. Four hundred pennies have been dropped in the box. The money is to be given to the Baptist Sunday School.

TREATY'S FATE WILL BE FIXED THIS WEEK

Action Taken by Bi-Partisan Conference Expected to Be Final.

MAY QUIT TRYING

No Hope That Compromise Can Be Reached Through Further Meetings.

By L. C. MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The present week is expected to show conclusively whether a compromise can be expected in regard to the treaty through bi-partisan conferences now going on. If this week fails to bring about a compromise, there is little hope that a compromise can be reached through further meetings.

The chief reason for the belief that further success in securing a compromise will fail is that Senator Lodge, the man upon whom the compromise depends, will not go into any more conferences if it is shown that the Democrats will not yield an inch on Article Ten and the Monroe Doctrine. It is believed by his friends that Lodge will do nothing further to bring together the disagreeing groups after this week.

There is a growing feeling in the Senate that the only agreement to be reached will be an "agreement to disagree."

The bi-partisan conversations were to be resumed this afternoon in Lodge's office. Both Democrats and Republicans indicated their belief that this meeting will be decisive.

The Russian soviet government has assured America that no one will molest the radicals while they cross the border. The radicals will probably reach Petrograd, their destination, Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Hall, a student in the University, was entering the yard of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house on Providence road about 7 o'clock Saturday evening when young Wyatt grabbed her purse and ran.

The boy snatched the purse of Miss Cora Knight while she was walking on Hitt street Saturday evening. The thefts were reported to the police, who located young Wyatt. He admitted that he was guilty. Both purses were recovered.
